We care about the environment and CO2 emissions

TEAM Allied Group is Europe's largest moving and relocation company, has just received the recognized ISO 14001 environmental certification.

This means that the company is working continuously to improve its environmental conditions.

Control the environment

With environmental certificate TEAM Allied is committed to continue to constantly contribute to a reduction of CO2 emissions and to regularly maintain and improve its environmental measures in order to avoid unintended impacts on the environment.

Lars Juul Nielsen, director of TEAM Allied Denmark said: "We have allowed ourselves to ISO 14001 certification because we want to show our customers and partners that we think green thoughts. When you are market leader, you have to take the lead and taking environmental challenges seriously. "

TEAM's main goals for environmental policy is to reduce environmental impacts, and ensure that we will not burden either landscape or environment unnecessarily. To meet these goals has launched a series of actions where improvements are made through technical measures and by that we perform our services in a more climate-neutral way.

Our activities are based on current reducing adverse environmental effects. All persons working for or on behalf of TEAM have been asked to implement our environmental policy.

January René Jensen, quality controller in TEAM Allied said. "We are really good to take care of the environment and we know it. Our colleagues in the industry can learn a lot from us despite the fact that we get better every day ends Jan René Jensen.
